

Choosing a Research Topic:
The key questions to consider

What in particular do I like about this topic and why?

Which broad area of the specification have I enjoyed and found interesting?

What do geographers already know about this topic? And how can I find out what they think?

What questions do I want to find an answer to - and are these questions geographical?

How am I going to make my research unique and different?

How much time do I have to complete the research?

In which location might I be able to study this topic?

Where am I going for my school fieldwork and what locations do I have available to me?

What data could I collect or use?
